Arthur H. Compton (1892~1962), while at Washington University at St. Louis found that x-rays increase in wave length when scattered, which he explained in 1923 on the basis of the quantum theory of light.

